Respected Sir,

In connection with the meeting of the Normalisation Committee kindly go through the mails received from Prof. Prem Kalra and Prof. Ashok Misra, reproduced hereunder:-

Mail received from Prof. Prem Kalra

Dear All

In addition. I will have the following comments:

As suggested by Dr Kakodkar, ultimately we may move towards option 2 .In my opinion it is possible to average out option 1 and option 2, weight-age of option 1 may slowly decrease and eventually it will converge to Zero. This bring in part of national (inter board) benchmark with intra-board comparison

Dear All

By and large I agree with Dr Moona's analysis. We also have to note that relavence to NIT may be unfair.The merit may be used by other Institutions. We should be concerned only about the procedure which is closer to 60:40. I also understand that as discussed in the meeting that benchmark may be difficult. Since benchmark is difficult for 40%,one would see least deviation within intra board comparision rather inter board comparision. Inter board comparision may become total unfair comparision becuase og garding schemes, course contents, wieghtages in evaluation etc.To best of my knowledge laest perturbation scheme is option 2.

I will worry about the factors like legal issues at this stage. I shall worry only about creating scheme which is closer to announced methodology and cuases least perturbation merit.

Thanks

Prem K Kalra

Dear All,

My mails are already a part of trailing mails here and are clear enough. I personally support option 1. I have also said that I would go along with the broader consensus either way as to me reaching a decision is of greater importance.

Warm regards,
Anil Kakodkar
